What do New Haven, Auckland, London, and Istanbul have in common? They are all on the prestigious New York Times 2023 “52 Places to Go” list. With a nod to the human need to explore the world around us, the chosen destinations feature diverse cultural, dining, and community experiences. Best of all, many of these activities are located in New Haven’s walkable downtown. With an extensive public art collection and architectural gems, it is a great way to get your steps in.

New Haven may have captured the attention of the New York Times, but we know there is more to Greater New Haven than our stunning core city. With 15 towns, we encourage you to explore the area for a broad selection of activities.

Our shoreline offers beautiful beaches, including two beachfront state parks, Silver Sands Beach State Park in Milford and Hammonasset Beach State Park in Madison. West Haven boasts a 1.5-mile boardwalk along its sandy shores, while Lighthouse Point Park in New Haven features both a carousel and a lighthouse. If you are ready to hit the water, you can enjoy Long Island Sound at varying degrees of exertion. For energetic rowers, Scoot & Paddle fits the bill. For a little less effort, try the Pedal Cruise, a BYOB pedal-powered party boat departing from Milford Harbor with a swing by Charles Island, one of the many alleged hiding places of Captain Kidd’s treasure along our shoreline. Three tour boats sail through Branford’s Thimble Islands for a leisurely outing. When your adventures are done, several excellent restaurants await along the shore, including Dockside Restaurant, Stonebridge, Guilford Mooring, Sandpiper Restaurant, and the Q River Grill.

If you are looking for an outdoor destination without getting sandy feet, head inland, where the offerings change with the seasons. Towns offer extensive trail routes for hiking and biking. Hamden’s Sleeping Giant State Park offers a 1.5-mile trail to the mountaintop with views of Long Island Sound on a clear day. The Farmington Canal Trail extends from New Haven into Massachusetts. Paradise Hills, Gouveia, and Rose Vineyards and Wineries serve locally-produced wine in picturesque settings to quiet the mind and soothe the soul.

Greater New Haven is known for its annual events, including the Connecticut Winter Wine Trail, Connecticut Open House Day, the International Festival of Arts & Ideas, the New Haven Grand Prix, and the New Haven Road Race.
Opened in 2020, the 45,000 square-foot Bergami Center for Science, Technology, and Innovation features collaborative classrooms, engineering and science labs, a video production studio, a makerspace, and an esports competition space.
The arts in Greater New Haven range from world-class to the downright quirky, and we love it all. As the home of Yale University, we have access (often free, thanks to the generosity of donors) to collections selected from literally millions of paintings, sculptures, coins, books, and manuscripts.

While the Yale Center for British Art undergoes a conservation project through 2023, the Yale University Art Gallery highlights more than 60 paintings from the YCBA’s collection in a new exhibition, In a New Light: Paintings from the Yale Center for British Art. These paintings join the extensive collection of 180,000 pieces in the gallery’s permanent collection. Smaller galleries throughout the region showcase the paintings, pottery, sculpture, and jewelry created by local artists.

Greater New Haven is also home to several renowned festivals, including the International Festival of Arts & Ideas (June). In 2023, Guilford will host the Guilford Art Center’s Craft Expo (July), offering nationally recognized American artists’ handmade crafts, and the Guilford Performing Arts Festival (September).

Theater in Greater New Haven ranges from traditional to avant-garde. The Shubert Theatre consistently delivers Broadway hits and special events. Long Wharf Theatre, now an itinerant theater bringing performances throughout the city, and the Yale Repertory Theatre produce many original plays depicting contemporary themes.

For music fans, catch live performances by the New Haven Symphony Orchestra or rock out at the Westville Music Bowl or College Street Music Hall.

Make the New Haven Museum your first stop for a history of the region and its people, from the Quinnipiac tribe to the first English settlers to immigrants from around the world. Permanent exhibits include “From Clocks to Lollipops: Made in New Haven,” treasures from the decorative arts collection, artifacts in the Amistad Gallery, and the recently acquired Linda Lindroth’s oversized Polaroid colorful portraits of distinguished community members. Genealogy buffs will find the museum’s Whitney Library an invaluable resource.

Explore the Grove Street Cemetery—the final resting place of luminaries like Noah Webster and Eli Whitney—and the New Haven Green with its three iconic churches, including Center Church, whose crypt contains remnants of the city’s original burial ground. Yale University offers guided tours of its campus, located here since 1716.

Greater New Haven’s architecture runs the gamut from extant colonial buildings to 20th-century gems designed by Louis Kahn, Paul Rudolph, and Eero Saarinen. Historic structures throughout the region include the Pardee-Morris House (New Haven), Harrison House (Branford), Reynolds-Beers House (North Branford), The Dudley Farm Museum (Guilford), Allis-Bushnell House and Museum (Madison), Andrews Homestead (Meredith), Jonathan Dickerman House (Hamden), Thomas Griswold House (Guilford), Thomas Darling House (Woodbridge), and the oldest house in Connecticut, Guilford’s Henry Whitfield House State Museum.
Come experience the world’s largest Native American Museum and discover the story of the Pequot people, their connection to their environment, hardships and their resurgence.
HISTORIC SITES AND MUSEUMS

The Amistad, Long Wharf, New Haven. The Amistad is Connecticut's flagship and a replica of the original schooner. In 1839, Mende captives from Sierra Leone took control of the ship but could not navigate back to Africa. After being jailed in New Haven, the U.S. Supreme Court ultimately heard their case for freedom, and in 1841, the Mende captives were ordered freed. The schooner is scheduled to be in New Haven May 1-5 and August 3-19. 860-992-4933, discoveringamistad.org

Amistad Memorial, 165 Church St., New Haven. This monument of Senghe Pieh (known as Joseph Cinque) stands on the former site of the New Haven Jail, where illegally kidnapped Africans were imprisoned in 1839 while awaiting trial. The work is distinguished by its unique three-sided form, each side highlighting the capture, trial, and return home of Senghe Pieh and his fellow captives. 203-946-8200, amistadcommitteeinc.org/amistad-memorial

Beinecke Rare Book & Manuscript Library, 121 Wall St., New Haven. The 1963 building features translucent marble “windows” and a sculpture garden. The library is one of the world’s largest libraries devoted entirely to rare books and manuscripts. It contains a Gutenberg Bible, original Audubon bird prints, and changing exhibits. Free. 203-432-2977, beinecke.library.yale.edu

Connecticut River Museum, 67 Main St., Essex. The museum tells the story of the Connecticut River and its people through manuscripts, books, art, and artifacts. It also delivers high-quality exhibitions and educational programming to visitors and residents. 860-767-8269, ctrivermuseum.org

Grove Street Cemetery (1796), 227 Grove St., New Haven. A National Historic Landmark, the cemetery has an architecturally prominent Egyptian Revival gateway entrance facing High Street. Eminent people buried there include Noah Webster, Gen. David Humphreys, Roger Sherman, Charles Goodyear, Walter Camp, and Bart Giamatti. 203-787-1443, grovestreet-cemetery.org

Henry Whitfield State Museum (c.1639), 248 Old Whitfield St., Guilford. The oldest house in Connecticut, this unusual stone building was constructed in 1639 for Henry Whitfield. The Whitfield House features 17th-19th century furnishings and artifacts. A stroll around the landscaped grounds features extensive stone walls, a bronze statue representing Henry Whitfield, and a ship’s cannon from the War of 1812. 203-453-2457, ctvisit.com/listings/henry-whitfield-state-museum

New Haven Green, Bordered by College, Chapel, Church, and Elm Sts., New Haven. A National Historic Landmark, the Green is one of the nine squares in America’s first planned city. The Green provides a backdrop for three historic churches that are outstanding examples of Gothic, Federal, and Georgian design.

Haven. Permanent exhibitions include the New Haven Gallery with the Eli Whitney Cotton Gin; The Amistad Gallery with Nathaniel Joselyn’s Cinque Portrait; The Ingersoll Room; Linda Lindroth’s oversized Polaroid colorful portraits; and The Maritime Gallery with additional temporary exhibitions. $4 adult, $3 senior, $2 students 19 and over, and free 18 and under. 203-562-4183, newhavenmuseum.org

Pardee-Morris House, 325 Lighthouse Rd., New Haven. One of New Haven’s oldest structures, the property descended in one family through seven generations. The original 1671 house was burned during the 1779 invasion and reconstructed in 1780. Open seasonally, 12-4 pm on Sundays until the last Sunday in August. Admission is free. 203-562-4183, newhavenmuseum.org/visit/pardee-morris-house/

Shore Line Trolley Museum, 17 River St., East Haven. A National Historic District – Enjoy a ride on a restored trolley from the oldest continuously running suburban trolley line in the USA. The museum maintains several diverse collections of equipment, photographs, documents, and artifacts which preserve the history and heritage of the Trolley Era. Summer and select holidays. 203-467-6927, shorelinetrolley.org

Thomas Griswold House (1774)/Guilford Keeping Society, 171 Boston St., Guilford. A 1764 saltbox house with a barn, blacksmith shop, two small corn cribs, and a three-hole privy. (Seasonal) 203-453-2263, guilfordkeepingsociety.com

West Haven Veterans Museum and Learning Center, 30 Hood Terrace, West Haven. Our mission is to honor the men and women who served our state and nation during times of conflict and natural disasters and to collect and preserve artifacts to help in that endeavor. 203-934-1111, whmilmuseum.org

William Lanson Statue, Lock St. & Canal St., New Haven. The statue commemorates the life of William Lanson, a 19th-century Black entrepreneur from New Haven. His accomplishments include expanding Long Wharf to increase shipping capacity and building the Farmington Canal.

Amistad Freedom Schooner
Discovering Amistad
Long Wharf Pier, New Haven
The Amistad, a 129’ re-creation (of the original ship) was built in 2000 and commemorates the historic 1839 Amistad Uprising. During this famous incident, 53 kidnapped West Africans organized an uprising and eventually won their freedom in the US Supreme Court. The ship is used as a “floating classroom” to teach the lessons of the Amistad Uprising to advance social justice today.

Discovering Amistad engages children, adults and families in a discovery process to explore the story of The Amistad and its impact on Connecticut and the nation. The ship’s homeport is New Haven CT; and it also travels to other CT ports down the Long Island Sound. For 2023 ship itinerary or to schedule a visit: discoveringamistad.org

Greater New Haven covers just 369 square miles, but our cuisine will take you around the world. New Haven’s history of welcoming immigrants translates into a culinary feast that covers five continents. Try Lalibela’s Ethiopian menu or the best of Thailand at Mai Tai Restaurant. Sample Afro-Cuban cuisine at Soul de Cuba or Latin American fusion at Pacifico. The Union League Café is a French favorite, and Lúdál Italian Restaurant is an elegant Italian trattoria. Jalapeño Heaven specializes in Mexican dishes, while The Wharf serves up New American cuisine. This list is just an appetizer of the culinary choices waiting for you throughout the region.

Don’t forget to order drinks! Established wineries include Chamard, Gouveia, Paradise Hills, Savino, Rose, and Rosabianca. Beer flows throughout the region as well. Among the most popular breweries are Stony Creek Brewery in Branford, with seating overlooking the Branford River, and New Haven’s own East Rock Brewing Company.

New Haven is best known, of course, as the home of pizza. Rivals Sally’s Apizza and Frank Pepe Pizzeria Napoletana go up against other hometown favorites like Modern Apizza, BAR, Zuppa’s Apizza, and Zeneli Pizzeria & Cucina Napoletana. Visit a few and judge for yourself which one serves up the best slice.

Connecticut’s rich farmland means many of our restaurants have embraced local produce. Menus vary with the seasons as our imaginative chefs integrate fresh ingredients into both new and traditional recipes. You can buy fresh yourself at pop-up farmers’ markets and shops like Bishop’s Orchards Farm Market in Guilford and Hindinger Farm in Hamden.

A full day of sightseeing should include a break for refreshments, too. Check out the many coffee shops, ice cream parlors, and small cafes along the way, including the top-rated Arethusa Farm Dairy in New Haven, Ashley’s Ice Cream in Branford, New Haven, and Guilford, and Willoughby’s Coffee & Tea in New Haven, Branford, and Madison, among others.

We may love the convenience of shopping online, but there is nothing quite like discovering a unique shop or boutique where you can see and feel the quality of the merchandise. Throughout Greater New Haven, there are distinctive shops located around quintessentially New England town greens, as well as in malls and shopping districts.

Head to Milford, Branford, Guilford, or Madison to shop like the locals. The Connecticut Post Mall in Milford and the Meriden Mall offer convenience with familiar brands. The town greens are retail centers, and whether you are searching for the practical, the whimsical, or something in between, you will find the perfect store. Serious shoppers will need to refuel to maintain optimum performance. When you are in desperate need of caffeine, sugar, an adult beverage, or a full meal to complete your mission, restaurants are located near most retailers.

Another great shopping strategy is to travel through the region via Route 1, Route 5 or head to Universal Drive in North Haven, where all the staples can be found. Not to worry if you forgot to pack anything from toothpaste to a phone charger.

The Shops at Yale feature a wide range of shops, including elegant clothing designed by Neville Wisdom. If your plans are a little more rugged, you can check out L.L. Bean.

Hopefully, you will find something you love, and every time you use it, it will remind you of your time in Greater New Haven.

IMPORTANT CONNECTICUT LAWS FOR VISITORS

Cell Phone Usage in Motor Vehicles

Connecticut law requires drivers 18 years of age and older to use hands-free accessories to legally use a cell phone or mobile electronic device while operating a motor vehicle. Under the law, drivers 16 or 17 years of age are prohibited from using any mobile telephone, including phones with hands-free accessories, while driving. Also, no person shall use a hand-held mobile telephone or other electronic device or type, read, or send a text or a text message with or from a mobile telephone or mobile electronic device while operating a motor vehicle.

Liquor Laws

The legal drinking age in Connecticut is twenty-one.

Seat Belts and Child Restraint Systems

Connecticut law states (1) Infants must remain rear-facing until they are a minimum of both two years and 30 pounds; (2) Toddlers must be in a forward-facing car seat with a 5-point harness until five years and 40 pounds; (3) Children should ride in a booster until they reach eight years old AND 60 pounds (they must meet both requirements); and (4) Children, tweens, and teens must be in a seat belt whenever they ride in a vehicle.

Further Recommended: Children should ride in the back seat until they are 13 years old. All people and objects should be properly restrained whenever they are in a vehicle. Children who ride in a booster seat must use a lap and shoulder belt.

Greater New Haven is a vibrant region located in southern Connecticut that spans from Milford to Meriden to Madison. These towns are a vibrant region of small cities, comfortable suburbs, and charming rural communities ideally situated between New York and Boston. Residents and businesses routinely identify the outstanding quality of life as the basis of their decision to locate here.

Home to six colleges and universities, one of the largest hospital systems in the country, and a balance of corporate headquarters, small businesses, and non-profit organizations, the Greater New Haven region thrives in part due to its diversity of employment opportunities and people. As a truly global community, the region’s residents hail from around the world, some with roots centuries deep and others who have just arrived, making life here a rich cultural experience.

A factor that contributes to the high quality of life in Greater New Haven is its vibrant arts and cultural scene. The region is home to numerous museums, galleries, theaters, and music venues, offering residents a wide range of entertainment options. Additionally, the area is known for its diverse cuisine, with numerous restaurants, cafes, and food trucks serving up delicious food from all over the world. The colleges and universities here provide residents with access to world-class education and research opportunities, as well as a wealth of cultural and intellectual activities.

The natural beauty of the region is also a significant draw for many residents. Greater New Haven is located along the Long Island Sound, providing easy access to beaches, parks, and other outdoor recreational opportunities. The region is also known for its historic architecture and charming neighborhoods, making it an attractive place to live and work.
In a global arena, discover the New Haven advantage.

- Nationally recognized for cultural equity and inclusion.
- Affordable location between New York and Boston.
- Fastest growing economy of any major Connecticut city.
- Leading destination in life science, quantum computing, craft food & social impact technology.

CITY:
Connecticut’s first Cultural Equity Plan.

R&D:
Single-largest life-sciences cluster in CT, 4th-densest in the country.

VENTURE:
3rd fastest growing US city for venture capital investment.

Picturesque New England towns and lively small cities make the region a desirable home for people of all ages. Strong schools with beautiful parks and beaches are ideal for raising children. At the same time, an attractive mix of cultural institutions, restaurants, and shopping also makes it an inviting destination for young professionals and empty nesters.

Greater New Haven offers the beauty of shoreline living and bucolic rural towns, all within 369 sq. miles if you prefer suburban living. These towns embody the traditional vision of New England life with modern amenities, including a full Shore Line East commuter rail service that serves New London to New Haven. The Hartford Line, which extends from New Haven to Springfield, has two regional stations along the line, in Meriden and Wallingford, with a new station in North Haven coming soon. The 2022 Berkshire Hathaway Annual Connecticut Market Report states that the median price for home sales in the region is $300,000.

The city of New Haven offers urban living on a manageable scale. Recent residential developments and others underway provide modern, energy-efficient units for rent. City dwellers relish the liveliness of downtown and its walkability. Wherever you choose to reside, you can easily access all the features that make Greater New Haven a wonderful place to live.

With the widespread acceptance of working from home or in a hybrid model, employees now have more options on where to live and different expectations on what their new home should offer. With rail service offered to New York City (both Grand Central Terminal and Penn Station), Boston, and Hartford, it is easy to work in any of these cities while residing in Greater New Haven. One of the perks of choosing Greater New Haven is that rental costs can be 50% less than Manhattan, according to April 2023 data from rentcafe.com.
According to the Bureau of Economic Analysis, Connecticut ranked 17th nationally for economic growth in 2022. This growth is consistent with the results of the recent REX Development Business Recovery Survey. The survey found that 70% of businesses in Greater New Haven are at pre-pandemic or higher employment levels, with another 24% expecting full employment by mid-2023.

With six colleges and universities, the area prioritizes innovation, research, and development. Entrepreneurs benefit from a robust knowledge-based economy and access to global thought leaders. Yale University is recognized for cutting-edge research in numerous fields, maximizing the talents of its renowned faculty, and ongoing investment in state-of-the-art facilities. Research projects at Yale have resulted in several successful spin-offs, particularly in bioscience. The National Institute of Health funds many research studies at Yale University as well as other regional entities. Since 2010, the NIH provided $5.7 billion to the region for R&D.

Both Yale New Haven Health and Hartford Healthcare are increasing their presence in the region. While YNHH is an anchor institution, Hartford Healthcare is relatively new to our region. With an aging population, they are anticipating a need for additional services. Both organizations are utilizing new technologies to provide services, particularly telehealth. In addition, Yale New Haven Health is constructing a new $838 million Neuroscience Institute in New Haven.

Investment in new commercial and residential development is expanding. After experiencing a robust return on investment, many developers return to the region for investment in additional projects. Residential and bioscience investments remain solid for the foreseeable future, with unmet housing and lab space needs. Two projects (100 and 101 College Street) represent over 1 million square feet of bioscience space.

The manufacturing sector is also poised for growth. With companies leaning towards the on-shoring of component parts, our manufacturers are ready to seize the opportunity. In addition, there is a steady demand for workers for the state’s established aerospace and defense industries. Industry 4.0 is being widely implemented, and the state offers substantial incentives and programs for workforce development and capital upgrades.

Employment in New Haven County

Greater New Haven is fortunate to have five solid sectors supporting our economy: healthcare; higher education; bioscience; manufacturing; and arts, culture, and tourism. These industries, and others, are actively seeking employees. As of March 2023, there were over 18,000 open positions in the Milford-New Haven MSA. While there are career opportunities in most fields, registered nurses were the most in-demand occupation.

Many employers continue to offer hybrid work environments, as well as schedule adjustments to accommodate child/eldercare, transportation, and other barriers to workforce participation.

Great ideas are born when the time is right. But businesses can only grow when the right resources come together in one place. Welcome to REX, a region of 15 South Central Connecticut towns where the business environment is optimized for companies ready to move, advance, and evolve. We are prepared to put the resources you’ve been looking for within your reach.
Leading Employers

Many of the region’s leading employers are in the healthcare, biomedical/life sciences, higher education, and manufacturing sectors. These sectors offer highly competitive wages and opportunities for career growth. Engineers and construction workers are also in high demand in anticipation of extensive transportation and communication infrastructure upgrades. The State of Connecticut has many available positions across many departments.

Healthcare continues to be a significant and growing sector of the regional economy, with core institutions making substantial financial investments in facilities and workforce development.

The Yale New Haven Healthcare System has broken ground for an $838 million, 505,000 sq. ft. neuroscience campus in New Haven. The project includes two new towers housing 214 new inpatient beds and a 198-space underground parking garage, creating 400 construction jobs. Hartford Healthcare continues expanding its services in the region. The region’s federally qualified health centers are undertaking major expansions, including the Hill Health Center’s new 15,000 sq. ft. facility at the D ixwell Q-House and Fair Haven Community Healthcare’s plan to construct a new three-story facility.

Yale New Haven Health (YNHH) is a full-fledged healthcare delivery network that includes Yale New Haven Hospital, Bridgeport Hospital (Bridgeport and Milford campuses), Greenwich Hospital, Lawrence + Memorial Hospital, Westerly Hospital, and Northeast Medical Group—with more than 29,000 employees and 7,500 medical staff, Yale New Haven Health had over 153,000 inpatient discharges and 5.2 million outpatient encounters in Fiscal Year 2021. YNHH is the primary teaching hospital for Yale School of Medicine.

The region has two additional inpatient hospitals: VA Connecticut Healthcare System and MidState Medical Center. Hartford Healthcare is expanding its presence in the region with additional outpatient facilities in Milford and North Haven.

Our aging population will continue to create demand for healthcare services from hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, private and in-home service providers, and congregate living facilities. The next decade will see significant shifts in the design of health systems and healthcare, propelled by digital health, growing consumerism, mounting financial constraints, and accelerated by COVID-19 and the prospect of future pandemics.

Biomedical & Life Sciences

Bioscience is thriving in Greater New Haven. Anchored by scientific research at Yale, the cluster includes both large pharmaceutical companies and small startups developing new drugs, therapies, and medical devices. With a statewide priority focus on bioscience, the South Central Connecticut region is ground zero for the bioscience infrastructure of skilled scientists and technicians.

Bioscience research institutions, including Yale University and Yale New Haven Health System, lead the way in advances in medicine. The region is a hub for biotech and pharmaceutical companies developing new treatments, particularly for rare diseases. Our location between New York City and Boston allows for extensive collaboration. We continue to develop more laboratory space for bioscience companies, especially those ready to move into graduate space without a long-term lease.

MAJOR CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS INCLUDE:
• 101 College Street (500,000 sq. ft., opening in 2023)
• 275 South Orange Street (250,000 sq. ft., planned construction in 2023, opening in 2025)
• Parcel B at Downtown Crossing (200 - 500,000 sq. ft., available site)
• Science Park (200,000 sq. ft., available site)

Recent successes include foreign direct investment, mergers and acquisitions, drug approvals, initial public offerings, and expansions.
• Hyperfine software update approved by FDA
• Biohaven wins fast-track approval for a spinal drug
• Science Park planning new housing, lab space
• ConnCAT launches paid biopharma training program
• Connecticut Innovations Launches Future Fund
• German Biomed X to establish a facility in New Haven
• California biotech buys Branford’s IsoPlexis
• Wallingford’s CPS Fluidics acquires Canadian firm
• Bioasis to merge with Midatech Pharma
• Ivy Biomedical to build in Branford
• Bio-Techne opens new facility in Wallingford
• Elm City Bioscience Center opens
• Medtronic partners with BioIntelliSense re-wearable

Personalized medicine is a significant growth opportunity for us. The Yale Center for Genomic Health is tackling the most pressing challenge in the field: how to translate increasingly powerful genomic technologies and vast data resources into meaningful improvements in healthcare in a way that equitably benefits people of all ancestry groups and ethnicities.
The colleges and universities sprinkled throughout the region provide an exceptional college education for their students, contribute to the development of the area’s primary and secondary students, and encourage cultural growth and lifelong learning, greatly contributing to our quality of life.

New Haven is home to Yale University, one of the most respected universities in the world. Yet Yale is only one of the six colleges in Greater New Haven. Drawing approximately 50,000 students from around the globe, higher education creates a highly skilled workforce and many career opportunities within the colleges.

The colleges offer an extensive range of concentrations, such as arts, science, business, computer science, engineering, law, medicine, nursing, and public health. The colleges’ curricula support our most vibrant industries.

With over 30,000 employees, Greater New Haven’s colleges and universities offer many career opportunities. While Yale University is an exceptional research organization, a glance at any high-profile job posting sites demonstrates the diversity of available career paths. The positions can be highly technical, administrative, or scholarly, as these institutions operate as mini-cities.

The impact of higher education on the region’s vitality goes far beyond educating students and direct hires. The students generate substantial demand for the goods and services provided by local businesses. In addition, the colleges and universities actively engage the communities in exchanging ideas and cultural activities, a vital contributor to our exceptional quality of life.

The region, built upon a robust and diverse manufacturing base, abounds with small manufacturers using highly-skilled workers to produce precision, high-value-added products. Today’s manufacturing is lean, green, and clean, employing advanced technology, including IoT, IIoT, AR, Mechatronics, and Machine Learning. By leveraging cutting-edge technologies and embracing a more data-driven and connected approach, the region’s manufacturers have improved their operations, increased their competitiveness, and improved customer service.

Manufacturing in our region is diverse and spans firms that make precision instruments for medical and aerospace industries, security devices for information systems, specialty chemicals, and fixtures in metals, plastics, and other materials using a range of technologies and processes from additive manufacturing, 3D printing to traditional stamping and machine tooling, and more. Some have been operating as family businesses for over five generations; others are larger, multinational corporations.

Our highly skilled and productive workforce focuses on lean and innovative manufacturing. Workforce Alliance and our local colleges are educating the next generation of manufacturers through stackable certificate programs. These programs have been developed in collaboration with the private sector to ensure that the students have the skills they need to enter the workforce. The state’s aerospace and defense Regional Sector Partnership also focuses on developing a workforce pipeline.

Some of our larger manufacturing employers include BYK, Amphenol, Edgewell, Honeywell, Sargent/Assa Abloy, and Ulbrich Steel.

Quoting Governor Ned Lamont, “Connecticut is the Silicon Valley of advanced manufacturing, plain and simple.”
Arts, culture, and entertainment create vibrant and thriving communities in Greater New Haven. Events like festivals, concerts, and art and cultural exhibitions allow people to interact and develop strong relationships. The region outshines its competitors in both the quantity and quality of content.

The region’s creative community works with primary and secondary schools to educate students about the value of arts and culture in their lives and career paths. Experiential learning on both the creative and technical aspects of the arts is offered through afterschool programs and internships, and New Haven has a high school devoted to the arts.

Tourism in Greater New Haven is a mix of leisure, group, association, and business travelers. While we draw visitors from around the globe, recent years have seen a dramatic increase in leisure travelers from the local drive market. Guests travel here for outdoor recreation along the shore, a robust network of hiking and biking trails, and our theater, music, and visual arts.

The region’s pizza is internationally renowned and is often featured on food and travel segments, blogs, and social media. If you ever need a conversation starter, ask for someone’s opinion on the best pizza.

As the tourism industry continues to rebound, new residents can explore careers in hospitality. Hotels and restaurants are seeking enthusiastic employees who are eager to welcome guests. Workforce training programs are available, and extensive on-the-job training exists for people new to the industry.

To support the hospitality industry, REX Development maintains visitNewHaven.com and the Visit New Haven app, an annual visitors and relocation guide, distributes weekly newsletters, hosts familiarization tours for travel writers and tour operators, and attends a variety of tradeshows to reach both national and international audiences. We are hosting travel writers and tour operators to attract more visitors to our region.
To quantify the importance of technology in Greater New Haven, simply search any online job posting site. While we have a strong technology sector, many professional technology jobs can be found within the healthcare, biomedical and life sciences, higher education, and manufacturing sectors. With a highly educated workforce and initiatives to develop talent through certificate programs, we are investing for continued, inclusive growth in this sector. In support of these efforts, the State of Connecticut is rolling out tech-specific programs such as the Innovation Corridor, Greentech, and Broadband for All.

In October 2022, Connecticut Technology Council and Marcum LLP announced the Marcum Tech Top 40 Companies.* The following Greater New Haven tech companies received this distinction.

- ARVINAS, INC., Life Sciences, New Haven: Arvinas is a clinical-stage biotechnology company leading the way in targeted protein degradation therapeutics.
- IsoPlexis Corp, Life Sciences, Branford: IsoPlexis is advancing immunotherapies and targeted therapies to a more highly precise & personalized stage by revealing unique immune biomarkers in small subsets of cells.
- AMPHENOL CORP /DE/, Advanced Manufacturing, Wallingford: Amphenol is one of the world’s largest providers of high-technology interconnect, sensor, and antenna solutions.
- Clarity Software Solutions, Inc., Software, Madison: Clarity Software Solutions, leaders in healthcare communications, create solutions that allow providers to manage and distribute member data securely.
- Avangrid, Inc., Energy, Environment, or Green Technology, Orange: A leading sustainable energy company in the United States with electricity, natural gas, onshore wind, offshore wind and solar energy.

Yale Quantum Lab, Andrew Hurley/Yale University
If starting your own business is one of your goals when relocating to Connecticut, you will be in good company. Since 2018, the residents of Greater New Haven have launched more than 25,000 businesses. While spin-off companies from Yale garner the most recognition, innovation occurs on a smaller scale in various fields.

REX Development, the economic development entity for South Central Connecticut, is keen to assist entrepreneurs and startups with assistance locating space, accessing financing, tapping into the existing entrepreneurial ecosystem, and connecting the budding businessperson with industry experts, municipal economic development officials, and additional business services. Industry associations, such as BioCT and ManufactureCT, offer targeted events to bring similar businesses together to address issues collectively.

Another great resource is CI (Connecticut Innovations). CI provides venture capital and strategic support for early-stage technology companies, extensive networking opportunities, and mentoring for specific skills and industries. CTNext, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Connecticut Innovations, focuses on expanding the resources available to groundbreaking companies; developing and recruiting the talent to meet the needs of both early-stage and established companies; building the support ecosystem required to incubate and accelerate new business expansion; and to invest in communities to provide everyone the opportunity to work, live, and play.

A leader in innovation, Yale’s research often results in new companies in medicine, pharma, bioscience, environment, computer science, and quantum computing, among other sectors. Yale Ventures, launched in 2022, seeks to foster and accelerate a vibrant entrepreneurship and innovation ecosystem that increases support, resources, and opportunities for Yale innovators—faculty and students—as they translate their ideas and discoveries into new ventures that will positively impact the world’s greatest challenges.
Workforce development is high on the list of regional and state priorities. The Governor’s Workforce Council is ensuring Connecticut maintains the most accessible, equitable, aligned, and high-quality workforce pipeline in the country. Regional Sector Partnerships (RSP), a key element of the council’s strategy, are available for industries including manufacturing, healthcare, bioscience, construction, financial services, entrepreneurs, STEM, and logistics. The RSPs address workforce shortages through training, increasing employer engagement, and encouraging innovation.

STARTING A CAREER

Collaboration among colleges, universities, Workforce Alliance, and local boards of education is preparing students for existing jobs and in sectors with expected growth. Program development is created in concert with employers, government agencies, and local municipalities. While Greater New Haven is best known for its degree programs, there are a host of pathways to success.

Gateway Community College offers a wide range of certificate programs to jumpstart a career. Certificate programs include:

- Accounting
- Allied Health
- Automotive Technology
- Business Administration
- Clean Water Management
- Computer Aided Drafting (CAD)
- Computer Science/Web Design
- Culinary Arts
- Drug and Alcohol Recovery Counselor
- Engineering Technology
- Environmental Science
- Hospitality Management
- Mechanical Engineering Technology
- Solar Technology
- Water Management Technology

Getting Your Degree

Graduates from Gateway Community College can easily transition to the Connecticut State Colleges and Universities system (including New Haven’s own Southern Connecticut State University), University of New Haven, and Quinnipiac University, bringing their earned credits with them.

Workforce Alliance (American Jobs Center) workforcealliance.biz

Workforce Alliance should be the first stop for both job seekers and businesses looking to hire or upskill their current workforce.

Skill Up for Manufacturing

Skill Up for Manufacturing is designed to quickly channel unemployed and underemployed people into entry-level manufacturing jobs by providing the fundamentals that employers need in as little as 5 weeks. The program was designed with manufacturing employers who interact with students and discuss job opportunities. The program includes:

- Free 5-Week hybrid classroom & hands-on training
- Cash stipend during training
- Minimum 175 pre-apprenticeship hours
- Six Sigma certification
- OSHA 10 safety card
- Job development

The Health Careers Advancement Program (HCAP) provides tuition assistance, professional development, and job placement to eligible job seekers. Individuals who have prior healthcare industry certifications can get help to return to school, add more skills and move up the career ladder!

Hospitality Career Initiative is a partnership between the University of New Haven and the New Haven-based nonprofit Workforce Alliance, providing an immersion into the hospitality industry and job placement assistance.

State of Connecticut Program for Apprenticeships in the Trades

Careers in the trades can offer a rewarding job with good pay and opportunities for growth. A number of industries are growing rapidly and looking for more people with the right training to begin careers in fields such as electrical, elevators and conveyors, plumbing and lawn irrigation, heating, cooling and sheet metal, and glazier automotive and flat glass.
